Report of the Superintendent

To the School Board of New Castle:

I hereby submit to you my first annual report as superintendent of the New Castle public schools.

During the four months that I have served in this capacity I have endeavored to become acquainted with your town and its people and conditions, particularly with your schools, their teachers and pupils, and above all with the problems confronting you as the school officials of the town.

I find your school organized, in fact in my opinion as well organized as possible, considering the number of pupils and the proximity of Portsmouth.

The primary school contains grades 1, 2 and 3, with 25 pupils; the Intermediate contains grades 4, 5 and 6 with 16 pupils; and the Junior High grades 7 and 8 with 22 pupils. While the last mentioned school is not recognized by the state as a standard Junior High School, yet we are offering to those pupils manual training, cooking, sewing and elementary science, and are including more instruction in the fundamental subjects than the course prescribed by the State for Standard Junior High Schools would permit. The pupils of grades 9 to 12 are sent to the Portsmouth High School and their tuition paid by the town. The wisdom of this cannot be questioned for we are thus giving to those pupils a better and broader education than we could possibly give in a small high school of our own, and the distance is not greater for our pupils than for many of the Portsmouth pupils.

We have been fortunate in being able to retain the services of all of our teachers for another year. These teachers know our schools and their good work can start in at the beginning of the school year.

We have taken some measures calculated to increase the efficiency of the schols. An intelligence examination was given to the pupils of the 7th and 8th grades. This enables the teachers to know, at least approximately, the mental ability of each class and of each class and of each pupil and thus better to fit the length and difficulty of the lessons to the capacity of the pupils and classes.

In December we gave to the pupils of the 5th, 6th and 7th grades the same tests in Arithmetic that was given at the same time to practically all of the pupils of those grades in Massachusetts.

The monthly bulletins have been continued. A series of teachers' meetings to discuss the daily problems of the schools and to instruct in the best methods of instruction have been begun.

To stimulate the pupils of the schools of the Union to a healthy rivalry in securing the best record in attendance and punctuality, a weekly comparison of the records in these respects of the 32 schools and the 7 districts of the Union has been issued from the office. The pupils of the school of New Castle have made a fine record in both attendance and punctuality.

Above all I have tried to help the teachers in every way possible for in the last analysis it is the teachers who are doing the actual service to the pupils.

As I have studied the town, its schools and their needs it seems to me that the greatest present need of the town is of a new school building. This building should be one of which every citizen of the town of New Castle would be proud. It should contain standard-sized classrooms, well-lighted, well-heated, sanitary, well-ventilated and sunny, with modern conveniences and equipment. It should further contain an assembly hall for the use both of the schools and of the community, where the social life of the town could be cultered and where programs for the enjoyment, culture and training of all the people of the community could be carried out. This building should be built on a lot, ample in size and so situated as to accommodate the greatest proportion possible of the people of the town. The taxpayers may think that this cannot be carried out at once, but I am confident that it will be done in the near future. It is therefore not too early to take measures to select the best available lot for this project and to acquire this lot for the town.

Assuring you of my desire to co-operate with you and with the other citizens of the town in all that will work for the best interests of adults and children alike, I submit this report.

CHARLES N. PERKINS, Supt.
